Mommy & Me

DONNA WEST

The Mommy & Me group began earlier this year with a vision of providing a “next step” of support for clients who have completed our prenatal program and given birth to their babies. This group meets every Wednesday afternoon. It provides a safe and understanding community for moms and babies to have fun and connect with one another. The girls are being educated on a practical level, as well as supported on an emotional and spiritual level. We discuss topics that relate to being a new mom, including infant and childhood development, parenting, relationships, life skills etc. We also provide spiritual guidance through Bible based devotionals, allowing the girls to share and pray together. It has been exciting to see God work in their lives and hearts and have moms begin to attend church as a result of the relationships they have built through Elisha House and the Mommy & Me program!

TESTIMONIALS

"Some of my fears were people's reactions, especially my mother's. Elisha House helped give me strength and confidence. The love, support and guidance that they provided to me is so appreciated. They have given me strength to become the mom I am today and I am forever grateful."

— CLIENT E

"Obstacles included removing myself and my unborn child from an abusive relationship. The fear of doing it on my own was scary, but the Elisha House staff made me feel comfortable and a little less worried about the struggles ahead."

GROWING IN COMMUNITY

GLEN SLINGERLAND

Over the years we have had tremendously positive feedback from the participants of our biblical healing groups. Participants have commented on the growth they have experienced personally through the group studies. They also often comment on how encouraging it was to see God at work in the lives of fellow participants.

At Elisha House we run 8 different groups on a rotating basis, depending on the needs of the participants. Each healing group is focused on a specific issue or struggle. Topics include anger, peacemaking, sexual abuse recovery, anxiety, and destructive relationships. Additionally, there are a number of other topics on the horizon that we have been considering developing material for.

Each of these groups use biblically-robust, Christ-centered, heart-focused materials. In the group sessions, while participants have the opportunity to share insights from the lessons, the focus is largely on processing the material, applying concepts and biblical truths to individuals' lives, concretely and practically.

The healing groups are led by a trained counsellor with the aid of a co-facilitator. Volunteers may also be a trained counsellor, or a person who is gifted and has previously been a participant in our biblical healing groups. If you are interested in becoming a volunteer co-facilitator and have a heart for ministry please email me at glen@elishahouse.on.ca for more details.

Check our website for the schedule of upcoming groups and a full description of each of our biblical healing groups!
